DISTINGUISHED
LEADERSHIP AWARDS

— 2020 —

Lieutenant General Brent Scowcroft

CHAIRMAN EMERITUS

(March 19, 1925 – August 6, 2020)

“ In 1961, the Council’s founders—those ‘present at the creation’ of our international rules-based system, joined forces across party lines and among disparate organizations to form the Atlantic Council. They did so out of a need for sustained US engagement in the world and to develop an ambitious agenda for the Atlantic community. They succeeded. The Council convinced me to lend my own name to the effort by showing me how it would help carry forward that same mission at this similarly crucial moment in history. I’m so proud of the work it accomplishes each day. ”

LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN & THE PRESIDENT

Dear Friends,

Thank you for joining the Atlantic Council's 2020 Distinguished Leadership Awards.

For nearly sixty years, the Atlantic Council has vigorously pursued its mission, bestowed upon us by our founders, to galvanize constructive US leadership alongside global friends and allies to secure the future. There has never been a moment when our work has been more relevant, both at home and abroad, than in this epochal year, which will shape all of our lives for decades to come.

Around the world, a myriad of macro shocks – a global health pandemic, economic recession, anti-racism activism and political volatility – are changing the way people live, think and interact with one another. These shocks have tangibly impacted the way the Atlantic Council carries out its work each day.

As you will see, this new reality is on full display this evening as, for the first time, we host the first ever virtual Distinguished Leadership Awards. This virtual first comes at a moment of daunting uncertainty – an inflection point of historic proportions.

How we navigate this period will have generational consequences.

The Atlantic Council has risen to meet that challenge, playing an active role in shaping this defining moment in history. Across our 14 programs and centers, 2020 has not been a source of despair, but rather a call to action: if we don't shape the future together, chaos and less benevolent forces will fill the void. Through the ideas we generate, the future leaders we develop and the communities we build, the Atlantic Council shapes policy choices and strategies to create a more free, secure, and prosperous world.

To quote the late Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, whose outsized legacy we honor this evening, "Progress is only possible if the United States and its allies work together."

It is for that very reason that we convene the annual Distinguished Leadership Awards, aimed to both support our work and celebrate the unique strand of leadership our world so urgently needs.

It is in that spirit that we are proud to honor:

Kristalina Georgieva, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, for her bold leadership in confronting the economic backlash from COVID-19 and her efforts to build a better post-pandemic world. Ms. Georgieva will be introduced by former US Secretary of State Madeleine K. Albright.

Luis Alberto Moreno, president of the Inter-American Development Bank, as he steps down for his impressive career of leadership at the Bank and for his contributions to combatting the COVID-19 crisis in Latin America. Mr. Moreno will be introduced by former US Treasury Secretary Henry "Hank" Paulson, Jr.

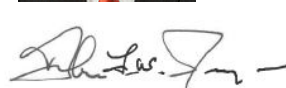

Lionel Richie, music icon, producer and philanthropist, for his extraordinary body of work and tireless dedication to humanitarian causes. Mr. Richie will be introduced by the founder of Black Entertainment Television and the RLJ Companies Bob Johnson.

As a first for the Council, we will also pay tribute to "Unsung Heroes," after running a global campaign to gather and share their individual stories, shining a light on those who have demonstrated extraordinary resilience and leadership during this historically challenging year. This tribute will be narrated by and feature a performance from critically acclaimed singer, actress and humanitarian Vanessa Williams.

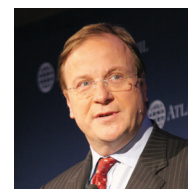

Finally, tonight's program will include a celebration of the life and legacy of the Atlantic Council's former chairman emeritus Lieutenant General (Ret.) Brent Scowcroft, one of the most admirable figures in our country's foreign policy history. Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, former US Secretary of State and General Scowcroft's predecessor as national security advisor, will provide remarks.

Thank you to this evening's Co-Chairs, the Atlantic Council's Board of Directors and International Advisory Board, and other generous friends and partners who have made tonight – and so much of our work – possible.

All our best,

John F.W. Rogers

Kristalina Georgieva

DISTINGUISHED INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP AWARD

Kristalina Georgieva was selected Managing Director of the IMF on September 25, 2019. She assumed her position on October 1, 2019.

Before joining the Fund, Ms. Georgieva was CEO of the World Bank from January 2017 to September 2019, during which time she also served as Interim President of the World Bank Group for three months.

Previously, Ms. Georgieva helped shape the agenda of the European Union. She served as European Commission Vice President for Budget and Human Resources, overseeing the EU's €161 billion (US $175bn) budget and 33,000 staff. In that capacity, she was deeply involved in efforts to address the Euro Area debt crisis and the 2015 refugee crisis. Before that, she was Commissioner for International Cooperation, Humanitarian Aid and Crisis Response, managing one of the world's largest humanitarian aid budgets.

Prior to joining the European Commission, Ms. Georgieva worked for 17 years at the World Bank, culminating in her appointment as Vice President and Corporate Secretary in 2008. In this role, she served as the interlocutor between the World Bank Group's senior management, its Board of Directors, and its shareholder countries.

She held a number of other senior positions, including World Bank Director for Sustainable Development, World Bank Director for the Russian Federation, based in Moscow, World Bank Director for Environment, and Director for Environment and Social Development for the East Asia and Pacific Region. She joined the World Bank as an environmental economist in 1993.

Ms. Georgieva serves on many international panels including as co-Chair of the Global Commission on Adaptation to climate change, and as co-chair of the United Nations Secretary-General's High-Level Panel on Humanitarian Financing. She has authored and co-authored over 100 publications on environmental and economic policy topics, including textbooks on macro- and microeconomics.

Born in Sofia, Bulgaria, in 1953, Ms. Georgieva holds a Ph.D in Economic Science and a M.A. in Political Economy and Sociology from the University of National and World Economy, Sofia, where she was an Associate Professor between 1977 and 1993. During her academic career, she was visiting fellow at the London School of Economics and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In 2010, she was named "European of the Year" and "Commissioner of the Year" by European Voice for her leadership in the EU's humanitarian response to crises.

Luis Alberto Moreno

DISTINGUISHED INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP AWARD

Former President, Inter-American Development Bank Group

Luis Alberto Moreno, a Colombian citizen, recently completed his 15-year tenure as the President of the Inter-American Development Bank Group (IDB), elected in 2005, and re-elected in 2010 and 2015. Under Moreno's leadership, the IDB Group -owned by 48 member countries- consolidated its role as the leading and principal source of long-term financing for Latin America and the Caribbean, while providing cutting-edge knowledge and technical advice for social, economic and institutional development. Moreno championed the IDB Group's participation in hundreds of partnerships with governments, private companies and philanthropic organizations, mobilizing additional resources for every dollar of capital used.

Before joining the Bank, Moreno served as Colombia's Ambassador to the United States for seven years. Relations between Washington and Bogotá strengthened notably during that time, leading to unprecedented bipartisan and bilateral assistance programs that supported a radical improvement in his country's security and economic conditions, primarily through the approval of Plan Colombia - an ambitious program to fight drug trafficking and promote social and economic recovery.

Prior to his ambassadorship, Moreno had a distinguished career in business and government. As Minister of Economic Development, he carried out a comprehensive competitiveness agenda and was head of the Instituto de Fomento Industrial, Colombia's public sector holding company. In the private sector he was the executive producer of TV Hoy, an award-winning broadcast news program, and a strategic advisor to major Colombian companies and foreign investors.

Moreno holds a degree in business administration and economics from Florida Atlantic University and an MBA from the Thunderbird School of Global Management. In 1990 Harvard University awarded him a Neiman Fellowship for his achievements in the field of journalism. He has also received honorary degrees from Georgetown University, Arizona State University, Baruch College, INCAE Business School, Universidad ICESI.

He is a Member of the Board of Trustees of the World Economic Forum (WEF); Member of the International Olympic Committee (IOC); Member of the Latin American Conservation Council (The Nature Conservancy); Honorary Member of Wilson Center's prestigious Latin American Program; Advisory Board Member of the Center for the Fourth Industrial Revolution of the WEF; Member of the Water Resource Group (in his capacity as IDB President) and; Honorary Member of the Global Council of the Greater Washington Partnership.

Moreno was born in Philadelphia, he is married to Maria Gabriela Sigala and has two children, Nicolas and Natalia. He is a native speaker of Spanish and English and conversant in Portuguese and French.

LIONEL RICHIE

DISTINGUISHED ARTISTIC LEADERSHIP AWARD

International superstar Lionel Richie has a discography of albums and singles that are second to none.

His music is part of the fabric of pop music; in fact, Richie is one of only two songwriters in history to achieve the honor of having #1 records for nine consecutive years. With more than 100 million albums sold worldwide, an Oscar®, a Golden Globe®, four Grammy Awards®, the distinction of MusicCares Person of the Year in 2016, and Kennedy Center Honoree in 2017. In March 2018, Richie put his handprints and footprints in cement at the TCL Chinese Theatre IMAX in Hollywood, one of the oldest awards in Hollywood. He recently received the Ivor Novello PRS for Music Special International Award.

The Tuskegee, Alabama native is a true music icon.

Lionel Richie is known for his mega-hits such as “Endless Love,” “Lady,” “Truly,” “All Night Long,” “Penny Lover,” “Stuck on You,” “Hello,” “Say You, Say Me,” “Dancing on the Ceiling,” and co-wrote one of the most important pop songs in history, “We Are the World,” for USA for Africa. His song catalog also includes his early work with The Commodores, where he developed a groundbreaking style that defied genre categories, penning smashes such as “Three Times a Lady,” “Still,” and “Easy.”

Richie was a judge on ABC’s American Idol the last three seasons and has returned to the ‘Judge’s’ chair for the 2020-21 season.

With his most recent All the Hits, All Night Long Tour, Richie sold out arenas worldwide with a set list of his brightest and best anthems. In recent years, he also headlined festivals including Bonnaroo, Outside Lands, and Glastonbury, drawing the festival’s biggest crowd ever with more than 200,000 attendees.

In Summer 2019, Richie took fans on a spectacular musical journey with his new album, Live from Las Vegas along with his latest tour, the “Hello” tour. The album, which was released on August 16 was #1 on the Billboard Artist 100 chart. The album also marks the legendary artist’s first release on Capitol Records.

CELEBRATING THE UNSUNG HEROES OF 2020

The Kung Fu Nuns

The Kung Fu Nuns have distributed supplies and meals to remote villages in Nepal during the pandemic. They will continue to be champions of gender equality and community service in 2020 and beyond.

Miriam's Kitchen

Miriam's Kitchen aims to end chronic homelessness. This year, they have distributed over 7,000 pieces of personal protective equipment and more than 20,000 hot meals to their clients while helping hundreds find safe shelter during the pandemic.

Melville Family Foundation

The Melville Family Foundation helps provide economic stability, food access, and educational opportunities to black and brown children in the Dallas area.

This has been a challenging year around the world – the scourge of COVID-19 and the massive economic disruption it has caused, as well as an upsurge of protest in the long struggle against racism and inequality. It is important at a time like this to come together to mark the heroism, resilience and imagination of those who seek to help others and change the world. More than ever, we have all been awestruck by the many faces of courage in the toughest of times. With this new tribute, we look to recognize those heroes.

Maria Kolesnikova

Maria Kolesnikova is a Belarusian musician and political activist who has become a prominent opposition leader against the rule of Alyaksandr Lukashenka.

The Azadi Project

The Azadi Project helps refugee women build digital skills to assist their integration into local economies and communities.

Diana Berrent, Survivor Corps

Diana Berrent is the founder of Survivor Corps, a group which connects survivors of COVID-19 to mobilize support for research to combat the pandemic and strengthen the recovery. Berrent launched Survivor Corps while in isolation with COVID to help advocate for herself and others diagnosed with the virus.

REMEMBERING

Lieutenant General Brent Scowcroft

CHAIRMAN EMERITUS

The Atlantic Council would not exist today were it not for General Brent Scowcroft. He provided leadership as a board member, twice as chairman, once as International Advisory Board chairman, and finally as chairman emeritus.

His legacy will remain with our institution, guiding its principles and its commitment to constructive US engagement alongside friends and allies. We are proud to have launched the Scowcroft Center for Strategy and Security in 2012 in his name and dedicated to his enduring values and virtues.

Seldom has the world seen a man of such historic accomplishment and remarkable modesty. He helped win the Cold War, defined the role of national security advisor, and mentored legions of principled individuals who continue to serve.

His greatest characteristic was the one he most valued in leaders but was too modest to attach to himself: judgment. Add to that huge doses of integrity, wisdom, decency, intellectual rigor, and professional commitment.

We thank General Scowcroft for the life he led and for the inspiration he left. We pledge to serve his legacy. Our hearts go out to his family, friends, and the many in the United States, Europe, the Middle East, Asia, and across the world who worked with him over the years to create a better world.

We all owe him so much.

— Frederick Kempe, President and CEO of the Atlantic Council

“ There are few people in Washington who were as respected and revered as Brent Scowcroft. It was not just because of what he did, although his accomplishments were many. It was because of who he was. A true gentleman, in the best sense of the word, much loved by all who had the privilege of working with him. ”

— Stephen J. Hadley

“ With the passing of General Brent Scowcroft, the world has lost a great statesman and military leader who has left his indelible contribution on the important pages of both the 20th and 21st centuries. At the same time, his loss reminds us that decency and respect have a valid place in the execution of diplomacy regardless of the complexity of the problems that face us. ”

— James L. Jones, Jr.

“ Everyone whose life Brent touched will always remember this self-effacing man who fulfilled his life’s purpose of service and, in the process, achieved the triumph of character over circumstance. ”

— Henry A. Kissinger

“ Among the staff over the years that he actively mentored, supported, and promoted are Directors of the CIA, NSA; Secretaries of State, Defense; National Security Advisors; and senior staff in all national-security departments and agencies. He could spot talent and wanted to ensure that our country got the very best. He hailed the virtues of government service and never failed to give the most junior of interns his attention when needed. ”

ABOUT THE ATLANTIC COUNCIL

“ The Atlantic Council has tirelessly worked to promote ever-closer transatlantic cooperation, and in today’s dangerous world, transatlantic cooperation is needed more than ever. ”

NATO Secretary General
Jens Stoltenberg

The Atlantic Council promotes constructive US leadership and engagement in the world based on the central role of the Atlantic community, working with its allies and partners, to meet global challenges.

Through the ideas we generate, the papers we write, and the communities we build, the Council informs public debates, shapes policy choices, and forges sustainable strategies to create a more secure, free, and prosperous world.

The Council comprises fourteen programs and centers that span the range of geographic and functional global issues—all animated by our mission and our core strategy:

SCOWCROFT CENTER FOR STRATEGY AND SECURITY
